WILL ASK $5000 FOR AGRICULTURE EXTENSION WORK

U. S. and Territorial Officials Confer on Request to Legislature

(Special Star-Bulletin Correspondence)

WAILUKU, Maui, Jan. 18.—To supplement the work which the federal government is doing through its extension station, and extension division work in the islands, the next legislature will probably be asked to appropriate the sum of $5000 a year for the next two years. The matter was considered last Saturday in Honolulu at a conference between Director J. M. Westgate of the Hawaii experiment station, C. S. Judd of the territorial board of agriculture and forestry, A. L. Dean, president of the College of Hawaii, B. G. Rivenburgh, commissioner of public lands, and F. G. Krause, director of the sub-station of the Hawaii experiment station at Hailu.

The need of more money has been keenly felt in carrying out the extension work on the various islands, particularly for money for salaries of representatives to help the small agriculturists. This is the work known generally as "country agent work" on the mainland, and the money in most cases is supplied by state or county funds. The rigid rules surrounding the expenditure of federal appropriations makes it impossible to use money for various purposes that are badly needed. For instance in the matter of practical value of certain field crops, nothing but experiments on a field scale can determine their practical value in certain instances. And yet the federal funds may not be used for securing the necessary equipment or implements, even though the cost may be but trifling.

It is understood that Governor Pinkham approves in a general way the objects to be gained.

RESERVED SEATS SOON EXHAUSTED

Not a reserved seat left for the Pecos Center concert before the public realized that the sale was on, boxes, chairs all sold out in the record that was established this week. Two hours on Wednesday morning was sufficient to dispose of all the reservations. Nothing was left for Tuesday evening except gallery and back seats which will not be sold until that evening. Then came the demand for another recital and concert, another opportunity to those who were to be disappointed Tuesday evening. This was agreed upon and Friday, January 20, was set. The sale for that recital opened today and the seats have gone very fast.

It is a manifestation of the pride which Honolulu takes in Miss Center and of its desire to express that pride that there should have been such a rush for seats which were the expressions of disappointment that were heard and those disappointed ones would do well to act quickly or a second disappointment may await them in the reply, "All seats sold for the second concert."

BALFOUR PROMISES RELIEF TO AMERICAN DRUGGISTS

NEW YORK, N. Y., Jan. 19.—That they may hope for speedy relief from the present shortage of drugs and chemicals is the promise extended by Arthur J. Balfour, British foreign minister, in a cablegram to a syndicate of American druggists here yesterday.

John Rudy, who served 30 years for shooting his father, shot a woman and then killed himself at Lancaster, Pa.

Will Never Be Without This Simple Laxative

Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin Relieved Her Baby When Nothing Else Would

Little Max Pendergrast is now four years old, and a fine, healthy boy. When but a tiny baby, in fact almost from birth, he suffered a great deal from constipation. His mother, Mrs. Carl W. Pendergrast, Red Key, Ind., heard of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, obtained a bottle of it from the drug store, and with it was able to quickly correct this condition.

Mrs. Pendergrast says Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin has saved them from calling the doctor many times, and that she will never be without a bottle of it in the house to use when needed. She found it equally effective as a laxative for herself and other members of the family.

Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is a combination of simple laxative herbs with pepsin, pleasant to the taste, mild in action and positive in effect. It does not gripe or strain, and contains no opiate or narcotic drug. It is the ideal family laxative, mild and pleasant for baby, yet acting quickly on the strongest constitution. Ubiquitous Ukulele Is Responsible For Philadelphia Peeve

Staid and placid Philadelphia is getting "peevish" at the ubiquitous ukulele, judging by the following in the Public Ledger:

"Oh, Aloha. Oh! look what you've done and done! America is ukulele mad; everybody is either buying, playing or learning to twiddle the uke, and so widespread has become the Hawaiian melody that a man called the Fifty-fifth and Pine streets station house last night and asked Capt. Tempest: 'In the name of Heaven, declare an open season for the ukulele fiend.'"

"Since the lackadaisical melodies were brought here from the Hawaiian Islands the theaters have been thronged with people who have watched with repressed emotion the gyrations of dusky Hawaiian maids, dressed in thatched harem skirts, with serpentine bodies and quivering hands, going through the 'primitive' dances doped out in a New York studio. And with them the native Hawaiian, dressed in Palm Beach clothing, with a yellow paper maché 'lea,' or necklace, who slanted soulful eyes to the gallery, brought forth lachrymose and doleful tunes on the helpless uke."

"And the ukulele, being small and cute and apparently easy to play, is the present American fad (up to the time of going to press). Made of a pleasant quality of cigar boxwood, the instruments retail from $1.50 to $2.50. Having four strings and a quaint, romantic appearance, it has been adopted by the youth of the nation as a fit companion for swaggy sticks and frat pins. The uke is being made in vast quantities by carpenters, box factories and contractors, and the ukulele forests of the Northwest are becoming rapidly depleted. Modesty forbids us to reveal the soul of the little uke to an unsympathetic public."

"The glory of Amati, Stradivarius, Bergonzi, has been eclipsed. The masterpieces of Cremona are dwarfed to the status of the Babylonian timber. Poor old Jacobus Stainer, the Tyrolean luthier, who was chained to his bench, might have been the ukulele king and Paganini could have out-mewed all the cats in Genoa had he found a ukulele in his Christmas stocking. Orpheus, who lost his beloved Eurydice in the ascent from Pluto's sub-basement, would have softened the old Lethe's heart with the plaintive wailing of the uke. Yes, that Caprice Viennols of Kreisler's is fine, but, says Marie, have you heard the latest wacky wacky wacky?"

"And the ukulele fiend! He fain would dress in white trousers and squat at the feet of his beloved. With loose sport shirt, open at the neck, and a yellow necktie, he performs. The throat must be bare, so that he may sing the sorrowful strain like that of the wango-dango mourning his young. He rises early to tweak his ukulele, he retires late, having wept on it in secret. He carries it about in a pouch, as the kangaroo does its offspring. There is only one instrument more simple, and that is the wimp, composed of a single string stretched across an oyster shell, which is plucked with a dull pick. And as the second-hand man moves out the family piano and trips in lightly with a new, shining ukulele, like Tarzello of old, he notes down the name and address, and, going to a phone, says to his doctor friend, 'I'll have another nut for you soon.'"

NAVY CONTRACT ROUSES IRE OF ST. LOUIS SOLON

(Associated Press by Federal Wireless)

WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 19.—The awarding of a navy department contract to Hadfield of Sheffield, a British corporation, whose bid for armor-piercing shells beat all the American bids, both for price and time of delivery, has aroused opposition in Congress against allowing any government contract for supplies to be awarded to any foreign firm. A resolution, designed to make such foreign contracts illegal, has been introduced into the house by Representative Rodenberg of East St. Louis, Ill., who announces that he will press the matter.

German Mother and Two Children Come 12,000 Miles to Father, Who Is Held With Steamer Pommern

Mrs. Margarete Wilts, her little daughter Ingeborg and son Frithjof.

Twelve thousand miles of travel brought to Honolulu on the Lurline last week Mrs. Margarete Wilts, a little German mother, and her two children. They came all the way from Bremerhaven, Germany, to be with the husband, First Officer Wilts of the refugee steamer Pommern here, on Christmas Day. A delay of more than a week in San Francisco prevented them arriving on time, but when they finally came the family reunion made up for all heartaches and disappointments.

OAKLAND, Cal., Jan. 3.—After a trip of over 10,000 miles, made in order to be with her husband on Christmas Day, Margarete Wilts, a little German mother, left for Honolulu yesterday with her two children on the steamer Lurline, after having been delayed for more than a week in this city.

The little family was forced to stay at the county infirmary, San Francisco, because one of her children was suspected of having scarlet fever. After several days it was discovered that the child was not afflicted, and she and her little boy and girl were released from quarantine and transferred to the Baby Hospital.

Mrs. Wilts left her home in Bremerhaven, Germany, November 27, of last year, to join her husband, who, as first officer on the North German Lloyd steamer Pommern, had been in Honolulu with the rest of the crew, since the beginning of the European war. With her Mrs. Wilts brought her two-and-a-half-year-old son Frithjof and her little daughter Ingeborg, whose ages had prevented her from starting on her journey when she first heard of her husband's detention.

At last she got away, her steamer carried her past hostile shores and, near Falmouth, England, a man-of-war directed the captain to put to port.

LAWSON "LEAK" PROBE TAKES ADJOURNMENT

(Associated Press by Federal Wireless)

WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 19.—The house committee on rules, which is conducting the hearing of the charges brought by Thomas W. Lawson of a "leak" in administration circles whereby many persons profited in the stock market, adjourned all hearings until Monday, at the end of yesterday's session.

It was announced later that Sherman L. Whipple, an attorney of Boston, has been invited to take over the work of conducting the probe for the committee and acting as counsel for the committee. This move started a hot fight between the supporters of Whipple and those who wished Samuel Untermyer, the New Yorker, to undertake the task.

NAVY'S OLDEST VETERAN DIES AT WASHINGTON

WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 19.—The oldest veteran of the navy, Rear Admiral James Horatio Wadsworth, who saw active service as a midshipman aboard the U. S. frigate Constitution and who was the last survivor of the crew which fought that historic ship, died at his home here last night. He was 95 years old.

Admiral Wadsworth was born in Whitmarsh, Pennsylvania, in 1823, and entered the navy as acting midshipman in 1843. He retired on July 30, 1884, with the rank of rear-admiral.

TAFT DEFENDS PLAN OF LEAGUE OF NATIONS

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Jan. 19.—In defending the idea of the League to Enforce Peace, recently attacked in a characteristic article printed in the Metropolitan Magazine by Theodore Roosevelt, former President Taft last night declared that in as much as Roosevelt "attacked one side of the plan and William J. Bryan the other, the odds are that the backers of the idea are nearer right than they would be if either of these men agreed with them." Messages from neutral nations endorsing the plan were read at the meeting.

During her three days' stay in the British harbor city, Mrs. Wilts says, officials of that government proved very accommodating and polite, dispensing with the formality of opening and examining her baggage.

United States immigration officials caused more delay, but finally the young mother was allowed to proceed on her journey and crossed the continent, bound for San Francisco, where she expected to take ship again for Honolulu.

Conditions at the infirmary made her stay there an agony for Mrs. Wilts.

"We were put into an unspeakable shack," she said, "cracks in walls, floors, ceilings and window panes were stuffed with old papers. Cleanliness seemed an unknown feature and the cold draft gave my boy a very severe cold."

When Frithjof's cough increased finally the woman and her children were taken to the Baby Hospital at Fifty-first and Dowie streets, to be cared for.

There the boy was nursed back to health and papers releasing the woman were signed by the proper authorities, enabling the family to board the ship for Honolulu.

Speaking of conditions in Germany Mrs. Wilts said that her baby had as much milk after the beginning of the war as he had had before, and although the daily bill of fare in the German household lacks variety there was always plenty of food.

"The one thing," she says, "that strikes the traveler in Germany today is the cheer manifested everywhere." Theaters are sold out every night, according to Mrs. Wilts, and while the Allies ostracize everything German, her countrymen are still in their show houses enjoying Shakespeare's plays and French and Italian operas.

YARROWDALE BELIEVED AT CAPE VERDE ISLANDS

(Associated Press by Federal Wireless)

NEW YORK, N. Y., Jan. 19.—Additional information from Rio de Janeiro, Brazil, leads local shipping men to believe that the fleet German raider, which has created consternation in shipping circles here and in London and Paris, is the steamer Moewe.

The Brazilian city also reported last night that it has excellent ground for believing that the British steamer Yarrowdale, with the crews of eight captured and destroyed Allied vessels, has arrived at Sao Vicente, Cape Verde Islands. This report says the steamer reached that port January 16, but there is no confirmation of the date.

SEN. M'CUMBER SCORES PROFLIGACY IN AMERICA

WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 19.—The United States does not need a conserving of its resources through a prohibition of exports so much as conserving of its resources now used up in the pursuit of profligate pleasures, in the opinion of Senator McCumber of North Dakota.

Senator McCumber, in the course of an address yesterday in opposition to the proposed embargo on the export of wood products, condemned the profligacy and extravagance of Americans in their pursuit of pleasure. He cited figures to show that Americans are now spending annually $13,000,000,000 on intoxicants, tobacco, automobiles and other forms of amusement.

DANCING EVERY DAY AT MOANA

HALEAKALA TRIP SHOULD NOT BE NEGLECTED IN SEEING KILAUEA

Two Can Be Combined in Simple Journey and Both Completed Within One Week

"Kilauea is certainly attracting a lot of attention these days," said L. W. de Vis-Norton to a Star-Bulletin representative. "and the patronage of the personally conducted trips is almost overwhelming. The Mauna Kea is fast filling up for next Saturday's trip and it looks as though last week's record would be broken."

"But I want to say right here that visitors are making a grave mistake if they neglect the magnificent trip to Haleakala, which is one of the wonder sights of the world and is almost as easily reached as its active sister Kilauea. Very few people seem to realize that it can be combined with the Kilauea trip at small extra expense, and it is not even necessary to return to Honolulu in order to make the journey."

Trips are Easily Made

"By booking to Kilauea on the Wednesday or Saturday boat, and leaving Hilo on the return journey on the following Friday or Monday, passengers have a stopover privilege which enables them to land at Lahaina on Maui, motor across to Wailuku, where the night is spent in first-class hotels and the auto run up to Iliwilde made next morning. Hero horses are in readiness and a guide is in attendance for the ride to the summit, which is reached during the afternoon. The night is spent in the comfortable rest-house erected by the enterprising Maui folk, and the delight of an evening spent around the fire at an altitude very near the portals of heaven, while stories are told and pipes are smoked, which altogether is an experience not soon to be forgotten. Everything is provided for the comfort of guests and the hours of sleep are so refreshing that one leaves one's couch reluctantly in the grayness of the dawn."

Sunrise Scene Marvellous

"But all hesitation quickly vanishes in the growing light as the vast prospect is gradually unfolded. The view is terrific in its immensity. It is as though one stood at the bottom of a vast basin whose sides are built up of shadowy sea and soft cloud, whereon the islands of the group are moored as with titanic anchors. First, the great snowcapped of Mauna Loa and Mauna Kea loom up out of the lower darkness—rosy pink against the pale sky—and gradually, as the light steals downward, the coastline of the great island comes into view. Molokai and the mountains of Oahu next claim the attention, and then the vast sweep of the fertile sugar lands of central Maui, rearing on two sides, flash into prominence."

Vast Crater Fairly Appals

"Presently the sun sweeps grandly up out of the eastern ocean, and one gasps as one turns to look into the vast dead crater upon whose rim one is standing. Few people could ever describe that sight in cold words. The eye gazes enthralled into its terrific depths and the mind almost refuses to grasp the fact that the inner cones, which look like mere hillocks, rear their gaping mouths seven hundred feet above the slope on which they lie. Even Jack London, the master of living, burning language, hesitated until, inspired, he told of the amazing morning battle of the clouds far down within that awful pit. In its silence, its immensity, its portrayal of the unimaginable power of the creator of all things, Haleakala is without a peer, and faint would one linger."

TEUTONS PLAN INVASION OF SWITZERLAND?

LONDON, England, Jan. 19.—Switzerland is on the verge of being drawn into the war, according to statements made in the carefully censored press of the little mountain republic, which reached here yesterday.

Yesterday the Exchange Telegraph announced that the Germans are concentrating large bodies of troops in the vicinity of Basel. It also announced that the Swiss general staff has admitted that an invasion of the republic is a real menace, which the German general staff is contemplating with the idea of freeing Alsace from the French.

BREAK A CHILD'S COLD BY GIVING SYRUP OF FIGS

(By Dr. L. C. Babcock)

Simple methods are usually the most effective ones when treating any disorder of the human system. The mere drinking of a cup of hot water each morning, plenty of pure water all day, and a little Anuric before every meal has been found the most effective means of overcoming kidney trouble. Death would occur if the kidneys did not work day and night in separating poisons and uric acid from the blood.

The danger signals are backache, depression, aches, pains, heaviness, drowsiness, irritability, headaches, chilliness, rheumatic twinges, swollen joints, gout.

It is such a simple matter to step into your favorite drug store and obtain Anuric, which was first discovered by Dr. Pierce of the Surgical Institute, Buffalo, N. Y. Every druggist dispenses it.

All people in America and especially those who are past middle age are prone to eat too much meat and inconsequence deposit uric acid (uric salts) in their tissues and joints. They often suffer from twinges of rheumatism or lumbago, sometimes from gout, swollen hands or feet. Such people are not always able to exercise sufficiently in the outdoor air in order to sweat freely and excrete impurities through the skin. Anuric will overcome such conditions as rheumatism, dropsical swellings, cold extremities, scalding and burning urine and sleeplessness due to constant need of getting out of bed at night, by carrying off the uric acid poison.—Adv.

When your child suffers from a cold don't wait; give the little stomach, liver and bowels a gentle, thorough cleansing at once. When cross, peevish, listless, pale, doesn't sleep, eat, or act naturally; if breath is bad, stomach sour, give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs," and in a few hours all the clogged-up, constipated waste, sour bile and undigested food will gently move out of the bowels, and you have a well, playful child again.

If your child coughs, snuffles and has caught cold or is feverish or has a sore throat give a good dose of "California Syrup of Figs" to evacuate the bowels no difference what other treatment is given.

Sick children needn't be coaxed to take this harmless "fruit laxative." Millions of mothers keep it handy because they know its action on the stomach, liver and bowels is prompt and sure. They also know a little fig today saves a sick child tomorrow. Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which contains directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly on the bottle. Beware of counterfeits sold here. Get the genuine, made by "California Fig Syrup Company."—Adv.

EDINGS WANTED ON MAUI; FRIENDS OPPOSED CHANGE

Explanation is Made in Wailuku That Adverse Vote Was Recommendation

(Special Star-Bulletin Correspondence)

WAILUKU, Maui, Jan. 18.—That Judge W. S. Edings of the second circuit court might have received the supreme court appointment which went to Judge James L. Coke, except for the activity of some of his Maui friends, who did not want to lose him to Maui, is the story that is now going the rounds. At least the judge might have had the bar association endorsement, except for that activity. Of course, since Coke's appointment was not in line with the bar association's recommendation, it may not have made any difference, but then again it might.

The report is that when the matter came before the bar association Judge Edings stood particularly high among those under consideration, but that when the final vote was taken the attorneys of two big legal firms, known to be particularly well disposed towards the Maui jurist, swung their votes against him. The explanation of this phenomenon is said to be that certain persons on Maui, fearing what Democratic politics or lack of material might bring to Maui in case of a change, urged to such good effect that the judge's friends, in the interests of Maui, voted against him.

It is understood that Judge Edings would have accepted the place on the supreme bench, but that he has not been and is not a candidate for any of the other judgeships now vacant in Honolulu.

PRESIDENT NAMES NAVY OFFICERS FOR PROMOTION

(Associated Press by Federal Wireless)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 19.—President Wilson, yesterday, sent to the Senate the names of the naval officers selected by the promotion board for the rank of rear-admiral, the recommendations of the board being accepted without qualification.

A number of new positions in the navy, carrying the rank of rear-admiral, were created by Congress in its last session, and promotions to fill these new positions were announced in the President's list.

Dr. Grayson and Brainerd are to be medical directors with the rank of rear-admiral; Chief Constructor David W. Taylor is to be constructor-in-chief, with the rank of rear-admiral, and Paymaster General Samuel McGowan is to be pay director, with the rank of rear-admiral.

INSURANCE RATES WILL DROP IF BONDS PASS

If a sewer and water system such as is contemplated by the bond issue is installed, insurance rates will immediately drop from 10 to 20 percent, is the opinion of C. J. McCarthy, territorial treasurer, who is now an ardent supporter of the issue for which a plebiscite is called February 21. That Honolulu bonds are in good standing is evident by the number of inquiries which D. L. Conkling, city treasurer, has received from Eastern bond houses. This means they will be quickly sold.
